Were you ready?

The Leadership Summit on Unified Mobility is being hosted by ACT Canada in partnership with the Canadian Parking Association's Annual Conference on Parking: The Urban Mobility Perspective. Regardless of the future state of vehicles, whether they are EV, connected, or autonomous – curbside, short or long term - parking will remain a key feature of a Unified Mobility future. This strategic collaboration sets the stage for thought-provoking discussions on the full circle of transportation in urban and rural communities.

Leadership Summit Focus — Unified Mobility is beyond MaaS

The Unified Mobility Leadership Summit is here because it's needed. If you're involved in transportation through policy development, service or product offering or delivery, this Summit is for you. Understand where the future lies, what technologies are on the horizon, which policies support a desired future of mobility in your community and what organizations are leading change.

This special Leadership Summit is focused on what we're framing as Unified Mobility – a new way to describe the positioning and delivery of integrated, connected and seamless transportation options in your community. This includes public transit, ridesharing, active transportation and the community services, design, programs and tools to deliver a sustainable mobility future!

Unified Mobility is sustainable, multimodal, integrated and connected. It is all about choice and how every individual should be able to choose the best way to get around through the unified delivery of all modes, services, tools, and information. It is the foundation for an autonomous future, where ridesharing through carpooling, vanpooling and transit can be dynamically booked, scheduled and paid for all within this unified delivery concept. Further, it integrates and is the aggregator for carsharing, bike sharing, ride-hailing, and supportive services like emergency ride home, parking and more.
